Treatment of Fungal Skin Infections

Fungal skin infections as the name suggests are caused by fungus. These mostly affect the damp areas of the body and skin folds such as between the toes, in the genital area, in the armpits, under the breasts, and in the groin area. These infections are mostly caused by yeast and dermatophytes (a type of fungi that causes superficial infections of the skin, hair, and nails). Poor personal hygiene and living in a hot, humid and crowded environment increases your risk of contracting the infection.

Most of these infections aren't life-threatening but they can be contagious depending on the type of fungal infection. However, if left ignored, in certain cases they can lead to severe complications. Treatment typically consists of topical therapy like use of antifungal gels, ointments, and sprays or oral medication. Apart from medications, maintaining personal hygiene like keeping your skin/feet dry, wearing well-fitting shoes, etc can help to avoid fungal infections.

(ii) Treatment of Bacterial Skin Infections

Your skin helps protect you from germs, but sometimes it can get infected by them. Impetigo and cellulitis are common skin infections caused by bacteria.

Impetigo is usually caused by staphylococcal (staph) bacteria, but it can also be caused by streptococcal (strep) bacteria. It is most common in children between the ages of 2 and 6. It usually starts when bacteria get into a break in the skin, such as a cut, scratch, or insect bite.

Symptoms start with red or pimple-like sores surrounded by red skin. These sores can be anywhere, but usually, they occur on your face, arms, and legs. The sores fill with pus, then break open after a few days and form a thick crust. They are often itchy, but scratching them can spread the sores.

Impetigo can spread by contact with sores or nasal discharge from an infected person.\

Cellulitis is an infection of the skin and deep underlying tissues. Group A strep (streptococcal) bacteria is the most common cause. The bacteria enter your body when you get an injury such as a bruise, burn, surgical cut, or wound.

Signs and Symptoms: – Fever and chills, Swollen glands or lymph nodes, A rash with painful, red, and tender skin, The skin may blister and scab over
Your doctor may take a sample or culture from your skin or do a blood test to identify the bacteria causing infection. Treatment is with antibiotics. They may be oral in mild cases, or intravenous (by IV) for more severe cases.

(iv) Eczema Treatment

Effective treatment for eczema

Eczema – also known as atopic dermatitis – is an increasingly common skin condition that affects approximately 10% of World's adults. Symptoms of eczema include itchy, inflamed and cracked skin. Coping with the condition can prove to be a challenge – which is why it's essential to prioritise your skin health and revitalise your skincare routine when treating it.

Our carefully-selected range of E45 emollients and Aveeno skin care products have excellent tolerability and are clinically proven to effectively treat eczema, keeping skin moisturised for up to 24 hours. They each work to effectively hydrate the skin whilst supporting the skin's natural moisture barrier, leaving skin feeling calm, comfortable and soothed.

(iv) Sun Cream Treatment

Effective protection from the sun

While it's common to catch the sun a little during the summer months, the reality is that sunburn can have potentially serious repercussions beyond sore, red skin. In addition to being rather painful, sunburn accelerates skin aging and is a leading cause of numerous forms of skin cancer.

The good news is that sunburn is entirely preventable. With the simple application of effective sunscreens, you can keep your skin healthy and young. Our range of sun protections from brands including Nivea and Piz Buin include sprays, lotions and aftersun creams to keep you protected whether at home or abroad.

(vii) Hand Cream Treatment

Keep your hands soft, smooth and comfortable

Keeping your hands hydrated, soft and healthy can be a challenge. Every day, our hands encounter irritants, chemicals and detergents that can cause them to dry out and become irritated. Therefore, it's essential to ensure they are well-moisturised and looked after.

Your skin deserves the very best day-to-day care, which is why our range of hand creams are carefully selected from household brands such as Aveeno. Our selection of dermatologically-tested hand creams can keep your hands hydrated and healthy from the first use, and are highly effective at moisturising dry and sensitive skin.
